	Check if Schedule O contains a response to any question in this Part III
1	Briefly describe the organization's mission: Our mission is to conserve and study certain raptors, as well as prevent their extinction. Raptors are among the critical components of our natural world and cultural heritage, and they assist humans in understanding their interdependence with natural	 е and the environment. Through our programs, we seek to advance the knowledge of avian biology, ecology, and conservation
2	Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ?	No
	Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services?	No
	If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O.
4	Describe the exempt purpose achievements for each of the organization's three largest program services by expenses. Sec
	501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations and section 4947(a)(1) trusts are required to report the amount of grants and allocations	s to others, the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.

ти	Species Restoration - Two endangered species recovery programs are conducted within the U.S. The captive breeding facility in Boise, Idaho produces young birds for release to the wild to establish self-sustaining populations of these rare species. California Condor-by 1982, just 22 California Condors remained on Earth. Today there are 391 individual birds, more than half of them flying free in the wild. This year the 19 pairs held by The Peregrine Fund produced 18 fertile eggs. Thirteen hatched in Boise and the rest were sent to other facilities. Ten captive-bred condors were transferred to the Arizona Vermilion Cliffs site for release to the wild and that population now includes 82 individuals. Cooperative programs with state agencies and hunting groups were expanded to encourage the use of lead-free ammunition in condor country. "Ingestion of Lead from Spent Ammunition: Implications for Wildlife and Humans" published in 2009 as a book and searchable CD, is still being referenced. Every condor continues to be trapped once or twice a year to be tested and, if necessary, treated for lead poisoning. Aplomado Falcon-this falcon was missing from its native habitat in the American Southwest by the 1950s due to changing land uses. The Peregrine Fund began raising Aplomado Falcons in captivity in the late 1980's and by 1993 a full-scale release program began in South Texas. Falcons are continuing to 4b	(Code:) (Expenses $ 1,638,508 including grants of $ 398,300) (Revenue $ 180,864) Conservation Programs - Since founding in 1970, over 100 raptor species in approximately 64 countries have benefitted from field research and hands-on recovery efforts by the organization. This year The Peregrine Fund was involved in raptor research, graduate studies, and conservation projects in 16 countries on four continents around the world. Grants were provided to students	5 conducting graduate thesis research projects and doctoral and master's studies, all in their native countries. Eleven young of the critically endangered Ridgway's Hawk were successfully fledged into the wild in the Dominican Republic in an experimental assisted dispersal project. Five Orange-breasted Falcon chicks, hatched in captivity, were released into the wild in Belize, and surveys were conducted for nesting falcons in Belize, Honduras, and Guatemala. Captive-bred and wild-hatched Harpy Eagles were tracked and observed in the forests of Panama and Belize using radio telemetry, and public educational campaigns were conducted to reduce shooting of this threatened species. Three vulture species tracked with GPS-GSM transmitters placed on 33 individuals in Kenya revealed a 25% mortality rate due to poisoning, and In Madagascar, work continued to set aside globally significant wetlands and forests, monitor rare and endangered raptor species, assist captive breeding of critically endangered

	Education / Information - Education is a vital component in all of The Peregrine Fund's conservation projects. Knowledge dispels misunderstandings about birds of prey and increases their chances for long-term survival. The Velma Morrison Interpretive Center	• is the centerpiece of the education effort in Boise, Idaho. This year 38,100 people were reached through on-site and off-site programs. In an effort to promote outdoor learning opportunities, an interpretive trail with a gazebo at a scenic overlook was addee	d to the facility's offerings for visitors. A world-class library provides journal articles to scientists and field researchers all over the world free of charge. This year staff supplied PDF copies of 1,049 articles in response to 376 requests from scientists in 32 countries. The online global Raptor Information Network makes encyclopedic information about birds of prey available to anyone with access to the internet. This year content was added to the accounts of 333 raptor species and the network received 125,108 visits, 331,262 page views and 1,054,995 hits. The organization created newsletters, news releases, brochures and other materials intended for the public. A webcam trained on a nesting pair of Peregrine Falcons in downtown Boise received 293,084

Schedule D, Part III, Line 4 - The Archives of Falconry functions within The Peregrine Fund's educational as well as its research programs included in the mission statement. The worldwide cultural heritage of falconry extends back over 4,000 years. It was that sport's history and interaction with raptors that led modern practitioners to found and establish The Peregrine Fund to restore endangered populations of birds of prey, starting with the Peregrine Falcon. Their successes in rescuing that and subsequent species have been due in large part to the intimate insight and personal understanding derived from their relationships with these birds through their practice of falconry. While such falconers' interactions and relationships have been documented for hundreds of years, this valuable history was being lost due to the absence of any focused effort to preserve records of falconers and their key roles in raptor conservation. For a quarter of a century The Archives of Falconry, founded by The Peregrine Fund and unique in the world, has been devoted to the preservation of that historical record.

Schedule D, Part V, Line 4 - The Board of Directors established the endowment fund and the related payout policy that allows The Peregrine Fund to use a portion of the endowment balance each year towards operating expenses including both supporting services and program services as needed.

Schedule D, Part XII, Line 2d - Loss on sale of assets - included as an expense on the audited financial statements and shown as an offset to revenue on the 990.
Schedule D, Part XIII, Line 2d - Loss on sale of assets included under expenses on audited financial statement - offset against revenues on 990.

Complete this part to provide the information, explanation, or descriptions required for Part I, lines 1a, 1b, 4c, 5a, 5b, 6a, 6b, 7, and 8. Also complete this part for any additional information.

Schedule J, Part I, Line 1a - Companion Travel - on occasion, travel expenses are paid for the President's spouse when it is for a bona fide business purpose. This occurs when an additional person is needed when traveling with a bird and an employee or other volunteer is not available; or when the spouse is participating in development activities and is an integral part of the meetings held, serving as a volunteer development staff member. Because these are bona fide business expenses, it is not a taxable benefit to the President. If neither of those cases applies, spousal travel is not paid for by The Peregrine Fund. Housing Allowance - the President receives a housing allowance that is included on his W-2 as taxable income as per the salary agreement negotiated and approved by the Board of Directors.

Schedule J, Part I, Line 1b - Companion Travel - there is no written agreement regarding reimbursement of spousal travel expenses. Spousal travel is only paid for when it is determined to be a bona fide business expense after discussion between the President, Administrator and Accountant. Housing Allowance - is per a written agreement negotiated and approved by the Board of Directors.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 11a - The form 990 is prepared in-house by the Accountant. It is then reviewed by the Administrator before being sent to the President and Vice-President for review. After these reviews are completed, the public disclosure version of the 990 is e-mailed or sent by US Postal Service to all board members who are given an opportunity to comment before the return is filed with the IRS.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c - Each director, principal officer, and member of a committee with governing board-designated powers annually signs a statement which affirms they have received a copy of the Conflict of Interest Policy, have read and understand the policy, have agreed to comply with the policy, and understand The Peregrine Fund is charitable and in order to maintain its federal tax exemption it must engage primarily in activities which accomplish one or more of its tax-exempt purposes. To ensure The Peregrine Fund operates in a manner consistent with charitable purposes and does not engage in activities that could jeopardize its tax-exempt status, periodic reviews are conducted. The reviews include whether compensation arrangements and benefits are reasonable based on competent survey information and the result of arm's length bargaining and whether partnerships, joint ventures, and arrangements with management organizations conform to the Organization's written policies, are properly recorded, reflect reasonable investment or payments for goods and services, further charitable purposes and do not result in inurement, impermissible private benefit, or in an excess benefit transaction.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 15 - Prior to the meeting of the Compensation Committee, the President provides the Chairperson of the committee with an evaluation of the officers under him and a summary of his own activities for the year. The President at that time recommends compensation for the vice president and makes recommendations for the committee to consider for himself. When the committee meets, the President is in attendance at the beginning of the meeting to answer questions and provide a verbal report of the activities and accomplishments of himself and the vice president during the previous year. He is then excused and the Compensation Committee meets to decide on compensation to propose to the entire Board for the officers. During the meeting of the full Board, at the conclusion of the regular business the Board goes into a closed session to consider the report of the Compensation Committee. A vote is taken and thus the salaries of officers are established for the upcoming year. The Chairperson of the Compensation Committee provides written minutes of the meeting for the files. When the President makes his recommendations he takes into consideration (1) job performance during the previous year, (2) professional qualifications, (3) experience, (4) cost of living increase/decrease, (5) compensation provided by comparable organizations, and (6) the overall budget for the upcoming year and whether increases in compensation are possible. For 20+ years a company named Towers Perrin in Rosslyn, Virginia, has conducted a Compensation Survey of Management Positions in Not-for-Profit Organizations. The Peregrine Fund participates in this survey, as does virtually every non-profit organization with a recognizable name. Each year the results are published in a book which is sold. We do not purchase the book each year as the cost is rather excessive, but we purchase it periodically to compare the levels of our compensation with other multi-national organizations with budgets on a level with ours. When the book is purchased, they send a complimentary analysis of one position with the national average for the position, taking care to rate similar sized organizations against other similar sized organizations. Members of the Compensation Committee also verify that compensation for officers of The Peregrine Fund is in line. Occasionally one of the Directors has his staff research comparable compensation information.

Form 990, Part VI, Section C, Line 19 - Governing documents, conflict of interest policy and financial statements are available to the public upon request. Requests should be submitted to The Peregrine Fund, Administrative Office, 5668 W Flying Hawk Lane, Boise, ID 83709.

be re-introduced through innovative Safe Harbor agreements. This year surveys found 34 pairs of falcons in South Texas, one pair in West Texas and one in New Mexico. Wild pairs in West Texas and New Mexico were still down by eleven pairs this year, which prompted us to do a radio telemetry study which demonstrated that there was an extremely high mortality rate. We lost over 71% of the 66 falcons released from sites in New Mexico and West Texas. Part of this mortality can be attributed to the extreme drought conditions throughout the range of the releases.

species, support graduate students' studies, and work with local communities to develop an ecotourism program while protecting traditional customs and practices. Financial and technical support was given to the Philippine Eagle Foundation for work including captive breeding and release of Philippine Eagles, public education, conservation of critical habitat, and telemetry studies on wild eagles. Annual breeding population surveys of critically endangered Gyps vultures were completed in India, Pakistan, and Nepal that tentatively revealed a reduction in the rate of population decline due to the use of veterinary diclofenac. Field observations to detect wintering areas of Chinese Sparrowhawks was carried out in the Indonesian provinces of Papua and West Papua; they were recorded at four localities, up to 1,200 km to the east of the currently known wintering range limit, thus proving that the species winters in Papua, although probably at very low density.
