

David L. Alexander
1959-2013

DONORS: Friends and family

For those who knew Dave, it goes without saying that he was personable, kind, down-to-earth, and big-hearted. You might not have known that Dave Lawrence Alexander was born on January 22, 1959, in Pampa, Texas. A veteran of the Air Force, he later became involved in the falconry community. A member of the National Falconers Association, he served as president twice and was named Falconer of the Year in 2009.

Dave was a true master of falconry, both in the sport and in the art of training these magnificent birds. He was a dedicated and respected member of the falconry community, and his contributions to the sport were widely recognized. He was a member of the National Council of the United States, and he was a frequent speaker at falconry conferences and workshops.

As a child, Dave had a strong interest in nature and the outdoors. He was always eager to explore new places and discover new things. He enjoyed the outdoors, and this passion for nature led him to a career in falconry. He was a true master of the sport, and his knowledge of the birds and their habits was unparalleled.

Dave was a natural leader and a great mentor. He was always willing to share his knowledge and experience with others, and he was a mentor to many young falconers. He was a true friend to all who knew him, and his impact on the falconry community will be remembered for years to come.

In his later years, Dave continued to be active in falconry, and he was always ready to share his knowledge and experience with others. He was a true master of the sport, and his knowledge of the birds and their habits was unparalleled. He was a true friend to all who knew him, and his impact on the falconry community will be remembered for years to come.

Dave will always be remembered as a true master of falconry, and his contributions to the sport will be remembered for years to come. He will be deeply missed by all who knew him, and his legacy will continue to inspire others to pursue their passions and to share their knowledge and experience with others.